

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to
air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the
public airwaves free
of charge, and is
obligated by law to serve the public interest.

By forcing local
stations to air
shows that are partisan and serve
the interests of
only one political party, without
providing "equal
time" for shows to present the opposing viewpoint, Sinclair
violates the public trust. The FCC must stop this kind of
partisan
manipulation by large media
companies.

The FCC must act in
the best interests
of all Americans,
not only those of
corporate entities or
a particular
political party.
Thank you.
